

PUBLISHED DAILY AND TRI-WEEKLY BY EDGAR SNOWDEN.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 20.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher said not long ago that a laboring man ought to be satisfied to live on what a dollar a week would buy. That he is of the same opinion still is made evident by his present opposition to the bill for the exclusion of Chinese cheap labor. As General Mahone is also opposed to the same bill, he must agree with Mr. Beecher on the question involved in it as well as he does on all the other subjects that are supported by Mr. Beecher and the most ultra republicans. And yet the General is a professed friend of American labor. But his friendship is worse than his enmity; for he is in favor of making every poor man pay double for the necessities of life in order that monopolists may be protected, and would not only obliterate all race distinctions, and make white men and negroes work together and for the same wages, but would flood the country with Chinese, so that the price of American labor would be reduced to that of the pauper labor of Europe.

Until the new regime in Virginia the U. S. Senators from this State were treated with distinguished courtesy wherever they went, even by those who disagreed with them politically. But that, like all other good rules, has been changed by the republicans, for their Senator achieved his position by such remarkable means and supports such remarkable principles, that the respect that would otherwise be accorded him when away from home has been entirely dispensed, as is clearly shown by the following extract from the Baltimore Gazette of yesterday:

"Gen. William Mahone, a Republican Senator from Virginia, visited our city yesterday but did not tarry long. Evidently the air of Baltimore, where people have a habit of paying their debts, does not agree with the Hon. Republican."

Things are by no means lovely among the republicans in the Legislature. Time is all that is wanted to resolve their organization into its original elements. Now that the last of the public plunder has almost been reached, its cohesive power is weakened, and it will not require a very severe shock to shiver the party to pieces.

It is ridiculously amusing to read the abuse aimed at the New York republican papers are heaping upon the republican-Tammany coalition in that State now that the republicans have secured control of both houses of the Legislature and all the State offices by means of that coalition.

The April number of the monthly part of Golden Days, a weekly magazine for boys and girls, has been received from its publisher, Jas. Mervison, Philadelphia. It is full of beautiful illustrations, and of articles instructive as well as interesting to youthful readers.

"Party Tactics."
In the State Senate yesterday Mr. Hurt offered the following resolution:

Whereas this extraordinary session of the General Assembly was convened by the executive for the purpose primarily of enacting such pressing public legislation as the needs of the Commonwealth demand; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Virginia, in response to the motives which actuated the Governor, irrespective of party, will this day suspend the rules and take up for consideration Senate bill entitled, "A Bill Appropriating the Public Revenue for the fiscal years 1881-2 and 1882-3," and continue the consideration thereof from day to day until said bill is perfected and passed.

Mr. Diggs offered the following amendment to the resolution: "After the word 'demand' insert 'stated in his message as follows: "In obedience to the necessities of the case, in the presence of the fact that the General Assembly has adjourned without providing for the expenses of the Government, and leaving the revenues to be collected under a tax bill enacted several years since and in many particulars inapplicable to the present condition of the Commonwealth, I have re-convened your body in extra session."

The resolution and amendment caused much discussion. Mr. Kiddleberger spoke against it, and said he did not propose to pass this Appropriation bill until other business has been disposed of. He said further: "I am going to oppose that resolution for the same reason the Senator from Pennsylvania offered it. I am going to oppose it from the stand-point of party. The senators can make what they please out of that."

"I am going to oppose the Appropriation bill. That is no threat. It is a fact—a part of party tactics. It is just as much our duty to resort to these methods as yours. Unless we are permitted to vote upon those measures that Appropriation bill will be recommitted, and we will take it every dollar and cent of the appropriation to pay the debts you have not paid for six years. You ask us to pass the Appropriation bill to make good your party default."

Mr. Kiddleberger then offered the following resolution: "Resolved, That the Senate will proceed on Friday next at 10 o'clock to vote on the judicial and congressional appropriation bills with all their pending amendments in the order in which they have been presented, and that for the purpose of full debate the first named shall be taken up to-day at 1 o'clock, and the second at 2 o'clock."

Mr. Diggs' amendment was adopted, but the resolution as amended was defeated—yeas, 17; nays, 15—it requiring a two-thirds vote. Mr. Newberry voted with the Democrats. Mr. Kiddleberger's substitute was also lost.

THE PETERSBURG DISTRICT.—Democrat negro politicians in the Petersburg district say that it is the determination of their race in that district to run a colored man for Congress.

State Senator R. E. Wilcox, of Prince George county, who recently announced in the Virginia Senate his change of political faith, lives in this district and is said to be an avowed supporter of the nomination. With their six or seven thousand majority in the fourth district, some of the negro leaders indicate that they do not propose to yield to any, but shall demand that they be recognized and given the nomination for Congress this year.

Mr. Parker Campbell, of Richmond, died in Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday.

FROM WASHINGTON.
Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20, 1882.
In the Supreme Court of the U. S. on Monday the case of Albert Scheffer et al., exors., vs. plaintiffs in error, was argued by the Washington City, Virginia, Midland and Great Southern Railroad Company, was argued by Mr. George A. King for plaintiff in error, and by Mr. Lincoln Kent for defendant in error.

The declaration in this case avers that the deceased, Charles Scheffer, on the 6th day of December, 1874, was a sleeping car passenger on the defendant's line of railroad, to be conveyed from Lynchburg, Va., to Alexandria, Va., and Washington, D. C.; that on the 7th day of December, 1874, in the night time, a collision occurred, owing to the negligence of the company's servants and officers, by means whereof the said Charles Scheffer was injured about his head, back and spine, and by reason whereof he became sick and disordered in mind and body, and by means whereof phantasms, illusions and forebodings of unendurable evils to come upon him were produced, which disease banished all medical skill, and continued incessantly to disturb and prostrate his nervous system to the 8th day of August, 1875, when it overcame and prostrated all his reasoning powers and induced him to take his life.

It was determined at the Cabinet meeting yesterday to sustain the decision of Gen. Swain in the Mason case, so the Sergeant will soon be at large again. Whether he will be arrested by the civil authorities remains to be seen. With regard to the length of the present session of Congress it is understood that Speaker Keifer fires his termination on the 15th of June, but experienced members say it will not end until a month later. Only once during the last five Congresses has the long session ended before the 1st of July, and the first year the democratic control of the House it was prolonged until the 16th of August. Among the subjects that will be likely to provoke long debates are the proposed change in the rules of the House, the Dakota bill, and the bill for restoring Grant to the army, all of which the democrats say they will resort to all legitimate means to defeat.

Secretary Foster has made a raid on the books in his Department, and about a dozen of his new experiences, the evils of republicanism. They are those who have become notorious for sending their boardinghouse keepers, washerwomen and every body else who would credit them. One of them is the personal friend of Governor Foster, of Ohio, who telegraphed, asking the Secretary to reinstate him, but Mr. Foster was imperious to gubernatorial influence.

It is understood that the President will annul that part of the sentence of General Fitz John Porter which prohibits him from holding any position of trust or profit under the Government, leaving it for Congress to make such amendments to the General as it may think proper.

It is rumored that the city to day that ex-Secretary Blaine has at last come to the conclusion that there is nothing to be gained, and that under that impression he is thinking about becoming a preacher in the Congressional church, and that he will have a conference upon that subject with Rev. Henry Ward Beecher who will be here to-night. It must be a strong church that can flat with two such loads as Beecher and Blaine aboard.

The bill to protect farmers against fraudulent commission merchants was further discussed, and finally indefinitely postponed by a vote of 16 to 13.

During the discussion Mr. Smith offered an amendment including pork after the word "eggs" in the category of small articles mentioned. Adopted. He also offered an amendment (which was adopted), "If any commission merchant shall fail to pay over the net proceeds of proceeds of sale of farm products, to his principal within thirty days from the time the sale was effected, unless otherwise directed by the owner, such commission merchant shall be held guilty of felony, and confined in the penitentiary for one year."

Mr. Smith said we have on our statute books a law that is full, ample, and adequate to punish fraudulent commission merchants such as this bill proposes to reach. He showed the relationship of trust existing between the farmer and commission merchant, and declared that the punishment of those who criminally misuse such trust. Never by his vote should it be established as a law in Virginia that the man who is unable to pay his debts shall be punished as a felon. Satisfied that there is no necessity for this law, satisfied that it would be a great violation of justice, Mr. Smith said that he should vote against the bill.
